Faculty: Archison, Beckley, Byrd, Cuevas, Harland, Loya, Kunz, Price, Stuart.

The Department of Behavioral Sciences includes the disciplines of psychology, sociology and social work with majors in each area. Psychology's scientific study of behavior and mental processes includes application of psychological principles to human conditions. Sociology is the systematic study of human society and the influences of social systems on human behavior. The professional program in social work prepares students in helping individuals, groups and communities enhance or restore social functioning.

Studies in behavioral sciences offer diverse perspectives to students who want to learn more about individual and group behavior. Fundamentals of the disciplines are stressed, and students learn the importance of developing problem-solving and research skills. They learn ways of relating to issues confronting individuals and society. The behavioral sciences provide relevant preparation for many different vocations. Graduate study and a career in psychology, sociology or social work may also be the ultimate objective.

Major in Social Work (Major Code: 131)

University Core Curriculum Requirements

(Refer to the "University Core Curriculum" section of this catalog and the "Curriculum Guide, Major in Social Work.")

Students must take PSYC 2301, SOCI 1301, BIOL 1406 and 1407 from core curriculum requirements.

NOTE: The social work program is accredited by the Council on Social Work Education. The principal educational objective of the program is to prepare students for employment as beginning, entry-level generalist practitioners. Preparation of students for graduate education is a secondary objective. Social work majors are urged to consult closely with program advisers to assure proper sequencing of courses and in selection of appropriate electives.

Social Work Requirements

- 45 semester hours, including SOCW 2361, 2315, 3301, 3380, 3381, 3383, 3098(6), 4310, 4121, 4341, 4362, 4098(6) and six semester hours from SOCW 4303, 4305, 4376, 4320, 4320, SOCI 4325.

Required Courses from Other Areas

- PSYC 2301.
- SOCI 1301, 1306, 4321.
- SOCW 3362 or PSYC 3310.
- BIOL 1406, 1407.
- For other electives, students should consult faculty advisers.

Criteria for Admission into the Social Work Program

All students registering as social work majors will be considered premajors before they are officially admitted into the social work program.

Criteria for admission into the social work program are:

1. Completion of the University's core curriculum courses, including BIOL 1406 and 1407.
2. Completion of the beginning-level social work courses—SOCW 2361, 2315 and 3301. A student must have earned a grade of "C" or better in the above three courses.
3. An overall cumulative grade point of 2.25 or higher.
4. An application for admission to the social work program accompanied by (1) at least two letters of reference from people who can attest to the student's desire and commitment to helping people, and (2) the student's latest transcripts.
5. Filing of a degree plan with the dean of the College of Education and Social Sciences.

Prerequisite for Advanced Work

SOCW 2361, 2315 and 3301 or permission of instructor is required for all advanced work. An overall grade point average of 2.25 or higher is a prerequisite for admission into field instruction courses, SOCW 3098 and 4098. See individual course descriptions for additional prerequisite.
