3. Comments from Dr. O’Brien
   a. The commencement speaker for May is Karl Rove and this has prompted many emails and much discussion. The original speaker invited for the commencement was George H. W. Bush who had recently declined. Dr. O’Brien met Karl Rove recently and when a speaker was needed he was contracted and agreed. There was much discussion about the speaker being controversial. Dr. O’Brien stated that as a University we should be the one setting that free exchange ideas should be able to take place without censors. Dr. Calvi stated that he agreed with Dr. O’Brien but that people also had the right not to listen. There was discussion from other faculty senator members about their thoughts on Karl Rove being the commencement speaker and mainly related to him speaking in that venue. Dr. O’Brien explained the process of obtaining speakers for commencement. He also noted that many of the speakers in the past have been local or regional and he is wanting national speakers. There was discussion about budgets for speakers and two other committees that choose speakers for the University.
