

My Valentine

By Brittany Slutz

For you my valentine

A little salt and some lime

You might need it for the pain

Or to try and keep you sane

I am here to take your heart

And break it until it falls apart

Like you have done to me

But the pain will be times three

Your heart will slowly bleed out

I will make sure of that, so have no doubt

I have gone through enough

The time has come for me to get tough

It is your turn to feel this so called love

Sent from below not up above

Let me know when you have had all you can take

So I can be sure to watch your heart break

I'll be sure to weep up the pieces and throw them away

Just as you did mine on my very last day

So for you my valentine

A little salt and some lime
