Bad Luck on March Field Trips

The famous Panhandle weather did us in for the month of March. A field trip had been scheduled for March 20 but cold temps, rain and mud caused that one to be postponed to March 27. March 27 saw winds that could not be believed which were fortunately predicted far enough ahead to cancel the trip. We are hoping that the trip to Cactus Lake and Palo Duro Lake will be rescheduled at a later date. A number of interesting field trips are planned for April, May and June, though, so stay tuned! (See back page.)

Turkey Vultures in Amarillo

Many people (even non-birders) have commented to me on the large numbers of Turkey Vultures soaring above Amarillo in huge kettles. They are quite a sight to see – sometimes 50 or 60 at a time. Mark McKinney reports that vultures are roosting near Amarillo College around the streets of 26th and Lipscomb and Ong if anyone is interested.

Message from Billie Shalvey about the April 23-25 Wichita Mountains extended field trip:

If you plan to attend the field trip to Wichita Mountains and Hackberry Flats, please contact Billie Shalvey at 654-2598 or by email billies7105@yahoo.com I need to know where attendees are staying in Lawton or camping in the Wichitas in order to make daily itineraries with our guides. Note: If you plan on staying in a hotel/motel, you should make your reservations as soon as possible. Fort Sill has graduation several times a year and hotels/motels fill up quickly on those weekends. I do not know if there is a graduation that weekend; so do not take a chance on being able to stay where you wish....Make your reservations ASAP!!

Gardening Note…

Spring is a good time to think about expanding your bird-attracting plantings in your yard. Also now is the time to put out your hummingbird feeders!

Also from Mark McKinney…

Mark McKinney reported to Connie Fordham that his father's (Bill McKinney) Purple Martin houses are becoming occupied again. Mark and his brother cleaned out the houses and removed the sparrow nests and right away the Purple Martins started arriving. He invites anyone who wants to see the

We received the following press release from Pete Salmansohn, Education Coordinator, National Audubon Society’s Seabird Restoration Program. It sounds wonderful if a bit out of my range (both geographically and financially!)

Famed Hog Island Audubon Camp Reopens

The National Audubon Society will reopen its legendary Hog Island camp for 4 adult ornithology sessions and one teen bird studies session during the summer of 2010. Dr. Steve Kress, Audubon’s VP for Bird Conservation, will direct the sessions. He will be joined by some of the country’s top ornithologists who will serve as instructors, including Kenn Kaufman, Pete Dunne, and Scott Weidensaul. Additionally, said Dr. Kress, there will be two new sessions offered in association with Exploritas (formerly Elder Hostel) where June participants will assist Project Puffin biologists to census gulls, eiders and cormorants at several nearby seabird nesting islands. Participants in the September session will learn about land and seabirds through bird banding and presentations and assist with a habitat management project for endangered terns and storm-petrels at Eastern Egg Rock. They will also assist a Saw Whet Owl banding project.

Known to thousands as the Audubon Camp in Maine, Hog Island was closed during the summer of 2009 to permit planning for the future. This process led to Project Puffin bringing back the popular ornithology programs for adults and teens. The adult programs are for both beginning and avid birders who would like to learn more about Maine birdlife and the biology of birds. The teen session is for 14-17 year olds with a keen interest in birds. (This session is co-sponsored by the American Birding Association.) Due to its varied habitats, Hog Island and vicinity are an ideal setting for the program, as more than 300 species frequent the area.

Participants live in authentic, turn of the century housing on the 330 acre spruce-covered island. Here, they will enjoy three superb home-cooked meals by renowned chef Janii Laberge. The meals are served in an historic island farmhouse that overlooks Muscongus Bay. During the five-day sessions, small field groups will go on a variety of trips and boat cruises, and attend presentations on topics ranging from migration, and the identification of warblers, to the restoration of Atlantic Puffins and three species of terns on nearby Eastern Egg Rock. Participants will have the opportunity to learn about bird banding, sound recording, and bird photography from leaders in their fields.
