Panhandle Bird Club
Annual Meeting
6:30 PM October 15, 2009
Southwest Public Library
6801 SW 45th Avenue

Our speaker will be Trey Barron who will present a program entitled Tips and Tricks for Bird Photography.

Please plan to come to our only meeting of the year. We always have such good fellowship at these meetings and we have important business to conduct.

At our annual meeting on October 15 we plan to spend a few minutes planning field trips for 2010. A summation of previous field trips has been prepared that gives the site of the trip, the name of the leader, the month of the trip and the number of species seen. Look these over and if you could lead a trip to the same site you led before or if you would be interested in leading a trip to a different site or a new site, record it on a recording sheet which I will collect and use to set up a schedule for 2010 trips. Thank you for your help in planning interesting and productive field trips. Jim Luce
Black Mesa State Park (Oklahoma)
Sept. 5-7, 2009
This was an extended field trip to the far northwest tip of the Oklahoma Panhandle where five Panhandle Bird Club members joined a group of birders from Oklahoma to bird over the Labor Day weekend in this beautiful state park. The following report was posted to the OKBIRDS listserve by Jimmy Woodard, the trip leader.

A good sized group of birders covered the mesa country this weekend from Friday to Monday. Participants for all or part of the weekend were Steve Metz, Kim Wade, Frank Sandford, Dan Robinson, Jerry Vanebbeber, Valerie Bradshaw, Ursula (?), Susan Thompson-TX, Jody McKenzie-TX, Judith Evans-TX, Bill Carrell, Doug Eide, Jimmy Woodard, and a couple from TX whose names I can’t remember (Robert and Carrie King).

Brief highlights are as follows. Steve or others will hopefully post more details later on.

Broad-tailed Hummer….2(1 subadult male with a few gorget feathers coming in at the base of the throat and one female/imm). Both were at the Mesa B&B all weekend.

Possible Baird’s Sparrow or hybrid……Steve and Dan had this one. They sent photos to a sparrow expert to look at. The bird responded to a Baird’s playback but exhibited some non-Baird’s features.

A Juniper Titmouse, Pinyon and Scrub Jays, and Bushtits were found at Camp Billy Joe. A female American Redstart was at Esther Israel’s house.

In Keyes on Friday-4th. Several Western Tanagers and a Black-headed Grosbeak were found by Steve’s group. They also had a Lazuli Bunting.

There were 16 Black-billed Magpies on the river near the Mesa B&B on Friday. A dozen or so were seen again there Monday morning.

Dan reported a flock of Mountain Plovers in a field NE of Boise late last week.

One Lewis’ Woodpecker was seen at the Hoot Owl Ranch on Saturday-5th.

A MacGillivray’s Warbler was seen at the state park on Sunday by Susan Thompson. There were 4-5 Brewer’s Sparrows along a road NE of Boise on Friday.

A Virginia Rail was heard at Optima on Friday. There were two Osprey at Lake Etling on Saturday and one there on Sunday.

Expected birds such as Western Wood Pewee, Burrowing Owl, Golden Eagle, Lark Bunting(lots), Western Screech Owl, Yellow-headed Blackbird, ravens, Curve-billed and Sage Thrasher, Rock Wren, were reported by one or more groups.

Shorebirds were scarce even though there were several playas around. My group only found Least, Baird’s, Solitary, Spotted, and Upland Sandpipers.

This is just a brief summary of birds from all the groups. Maybe others will post more details later. Bill is staying out there a few more days so maybe he can add a few more species later. My trip total was 107.

And from Susan Thompson:

A “Lifer” Owl near Black Mesa for the Texas Panhandle Contingent
by Susan Thompson

The field trip to Cimarron County, Oklahoma was a fun one in a lot of ways, but for me, one part really stood out.

To set the stage, Jody, Judith, and I were back at the Black Mesa B&B after our 2nd day of birding, and we were just rocking in rocking chairs and swinging on the porch swing, watching the sun setting and the last wave of hummingbirds at the feeders tanking up for the night. Our leader, Jimmy Woodard of the Oklahoma City Audubon Society, had just chosen a nearby chair for himself when Jody said, “So, do you wanna go try for a Western Screech Owl again?” (See, the previous night, Jimmy and Jerry had seen a western screech-owl mere moments before Jody, Judith, and I had caught up to them, leading to one of those “Oh man, we missed what?!” moments that can and do happen when birding in groups.

Right. So. Jimmy, while good-naturedly letting it be known that he had “just sat down,” was persuaded to accompany us to the nearby bridge to give it a shot. And Jerry joined us, bringing a very powerful flashlight.

We walked back and forth along the bridge, initially playing an MP3 of a western screech-owl call. (I was feeling pretty happy with how well iBird was sounding on my iPhone.) We got nothing, no response, despite persistence... Then Jimmy started whistling his own impression of a western screech-owl and bingo, one started calling back immediately! Yep, Jimmy’s whistling was more convincing than an actual recording – someone explain that one to me! Anyway, hearing it was cool in and of itself. The Western sounds quite different from the Eastern, a kind of “bouncing ball” hoot, as opposed to the weird whinnying call of the Eastern. (The Eastern is the only one we get in the Texas Panhandle.) Jimmy kept up the whistling and another Western Screech-Owl joined in.

Jimmy told us that it was pretty likely we would be able to spotlight one – we just had to look carefully as Jerry shined his flashlight wherever it sounded like the calls were coming from. The owls kept calling back to Jimmy, and we kept on looking, and finally, the flashlight landed on one of those loud little shrimps. AND IT WAS EXTREMELY ADORABLE!!!!! The head seemed to take up about half the whole bird, and the eyes seemed to take up about half the head – it looked basically like a cartoon caricature of how the cutest owl in the world would look. As it called, its entire body appeared to shiver all over. If it had been in my power to reach out and hug/cuddle the owl I might have tried, although I bet it would have ripped me to shreds in the process. The magic continued as the second owl flew onto a prominent perch and we could see them both. Jimmy said they were probably a pair defending their territory from a perceived interloper, and he speculated that they might have been saying something to each other such as, “I dealt with this stuff last time, now it’s your turn!” “No, you’re closer!” And so on.

Anyway, it was very very neat to see this – a “lifer” for all three of the Texans on the trip.

AMARILLO SITES
Leader: Candy Myers
September 26, 2009

The City of Amarillo has a variety of sites which provides good birding with little travel. Judith Evans, Michael Ryan, Jim Luce and I met at Southwest Library and started by looking over McDonald Lake next to the library. We saw nine species including Shoveler and Wilson’s Phalarope. We drove south to the corner of Bell Street and Arden Road to scan the large prairie dog town located there. We were able to find seven Burrowing Owls. It reminded me of the site that used to be out near the dump where we would scan over the town with our scope saying, “there’s another one, I see one more, here’s another.” It was great seeing so many!
The next site was the playa on Tradewinds Road about a mile north of Hollywood Road. Due to little rain during the past month or so there was only a small pond at this usually productive location. We did see lots of both Red-winged and Yellow-headed Blackbirds there, along with a good number of Green-winged Teal.

From Tradewinds we drove to Southeast Park. It is difficult to walk behind the lake so we mainly birded the lake and the field north of the lake. We saw Double-crested Cormorant, Swainson’s Hawk, American Kestrel and White-winged Dove. While there a flock of Yellow-headed Blackbirds thrilled us with a couple of brilliant aerial displays.

Our final stop was at Thompson Park and lakes. The Wood Ducks were everywhere! A family started feeding the ducks and we were all surprised to see the Wood Ducks come bounding in from all around to get their share. We also saw Ruddy Duck, American Wigeon, Snowy and Great Egret, Pied-billed Grebe, Belted Kingfisher and Green Heron.

The Burrowing Owls and the Yellow-headed Blackbirds really ‘made’ my day! The weather was gorgeous and the company was charming. Who could ask for more?

Mark your calendars now for a trip in-the-works for next year (2010) 30 APR through 2 MAY  Wichita Mountains National Wildlife Refuge: The Wichitas are located in SW Oklahoma and this NWR is one of the oldest in the nation. The largest breeding population of the federally endangered Black-capped Vireo occurs here, and although they are most reliably seen beginning in mid-May, we may see some early arrivals on Elk Mountain Trail. In any case, the whole area is “plenty birdy.” We will bird the refuge and also nearby Hackberry Flats. Onsite accommodations will include a tent-camping group campsite reserved exclusively for our trip participants with picnic area and shelter (shelter has electric) at a shared total cost of $30 per night. Or you may choose a hotel in Lawton.
