Check Reason	Exemption Type	Required Documentation To Be Submitted With This Form
	Age/Hours – Student's high school graduation date is outside of the two-year period, based on the housing requirement.	Copy of the student's high school transcript (or other official document or letter) indicating actual high school graduation date.
	Financial Reasons – Student has experienced a significant change in financial resources AND exhausted all of their financial resources. • Financial savings is not a valid reason for this exemption type. Please note: Due to FAFSA processing time, we do not begin reviewing this exemption type until after May 1 (for Fall).	1) Student has completed and submitted the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) to the WTAMU Financial Aid Office (please note it can take a few weeks before the University receives the FAFSA information);* 2) Letter outlining significant financial change, as well as any documentation that may support this exemption request. *Loans offered through the FAFSA are a form of financial aid and will be considered when determining exemption eligibility.
	Marriage/Dependent Child – Student who is currently married or has dependent children under their care.	A copy of the student's marriage certificate or a copy of the dependent child's birth certificate.
	Medical* – Student has a documented medical disability that drastically affects the student's ability to live on-campus and requires accommodations which the University cannot provide. *Includes on-campus requests for special accommodations. Please note: WTAMU can provide on-campus housing that meets most medical needs; requests for residing off campus due to allergies/asthma or anxiety are typically not approved.	The following information should be provided by a physician and attached to this form on official letterhead and be legible, signed, dated, and verifiable: • A medical or clinical diagnosis (within 60 days) of the disability by a licensed professional in the appropriate area of specialization, clearly defining the impact of the disability on the student's housing needs. • Observations or recommendations of housing accommodations that would assist the Office of Residential Living in serving the student. Recommended accommodations must be directly related to the disability. • If applicable, a student with a documented disability must be registered with Student Disability Services.
	Part-Time Status or Online-Only Classes* – Student registers for and maintains less than 12 credit hours per semester or will only be taking online classes (both based on enrollment as of the twelfth class day). *This exception is automatic and typically does not require completion of this form, unless it is the middle of an academic year and the student has extenuating circumstances that warrants a contract cancellation; this includes Study Abroad, Internships, and Student Teaching (outside the local area). Keep in mind approvals are not guaranteed.	Student will submit a copy of their class schedule for the semester, plus one of the following for the appropriate reason: 1) Official letter from the Office of Study Abroad or 2) Official letter of a Student Teaching or Internship appointment and location, which is outside the local area (50-miles or more) or 3) Other documentation, as instructed by Residential Living, based on student's extenuating circumstance. Please note: This exemption is only valid for ONE academic semester. Students currently under a housing contract will not be released for this (or any) reason.

Please note that exemption processing takes a minimum of three (3) weeks, assuming adequate information is submitted.

Common Reasons Exemption Requests are NOT Approved

Already Signed a Lease – Students who sign leases without having received an “approved” email from the WTAMU Office of Residential Living will still be responsible for fulfilling the on-campus housing requirement. Students who do not will be charged “housing pending” charges, equivalent to the cost of living in an on-campus residence hall, until they submit a housing contract for the academic year. You are advised to not sign a lease unless you have received an email from our office indicating that you are exempt from the housing requirement.

Allergies and/or Asthma – Many students come to campus with allergies, asthma, or some other type of chronic health problem. Some students develop allergies after they arrive due to the new environment. Although many students have allergies, it is rarely the basis for an exemption as it does not prevent them from living and academically achieving in the residence halls. In severe cases of allergies and asthma, the University can usually offer some type of accommodations that can help, such as year-round air conditioning, a single room, an air purifier (purchased by the student), etc., in addition to whatever medications or strategies are prescribed by their physician. While we do not attempt to ensure that all allergic symptoms are eliminated, we will do what we can to provide accommodations that help alleviate the symptoms in severe cases. Students who need an accommodation due to allergies, asthma, or any type of chronic health problem should contact the Office of Student Disability Services.

Anxiety – The transition into college can be a stressful one, but our residence hall staff is trained to assist our students through such transitions and do so in a supportive environment. It is not uncommon for college students to face some level of anxiety; there are many resources on campus – Student Counseling Services & Medical Services – that are available to assist our students through their college transition. Unless it can be documented that the student’s anxiety is unique and severe enough to warrant an exemption, such requests are typically not approved.

Bad Experience with Roommates or Floor-mates – The staff of Residential Living wants students to have a rich and rewarding residence hall experience. Sometimes, however, roommates are not compatible – even roommates who originally chose to live together. In these cases, we recommend that both roommates work with the hall staff to try to work out their problems or make a room change. An online room change process occurs within a couple of weeks after the start of each semester for any resident who would like to make a room change. Living in an undesirable situation can often be avoided by working with the professional residence hall staff to resolve the issue or make an immediate room change.

Finances – If a student chooses to attend WTAMU, there is an assumption that he/she has the financial resources to pay for it. If a change in your financial situation has occurred since signing the residence hall contract, please work with the Office of Financial Aid to see what aid options may be available. Although having both a lease and a residence hall contract could cause a financial difficulty, it is not grounds for an exemption.

Food/Dining – Campus Dining Services (CDS) offers a wide variety of dining options and types of food, including low-fat and vegetarian options. CDS can almost always accommodate students who are on special diets and have food allergies (including gluten and dairy). Contact CDS at (806) 651-2707 for more information.

Lack of Privacy – Most students are used to having more privacy at home than they have in the residence halls and this can require a major adjustment. If it is extremely disturbing to the student or if the student is an individual with a disability and needs more privacy for medical reasons, the Office of Student Disability Services can determine if a reasonable accommodation is necessary.

Want to Live with a Non-Parent Relative (sibling, cousin, aunt, grandparent, etc.) or Commute from Outside the Approved Commuting Distance – Students may live full-time and commute from home only under two conditions: 1) they will reside full-time with a parent or legal guardian (someone who has applied for and been granted legal guardianship by the court) and 2) that parent/legal guardian lives within a 50-mile driving radius of WTAMU’s main campus. If either of those two conditions are not met, an exemption will not be granted.
