Tips for success and discipline from Annali Flores

WT College Assistance Migrant Program
WEST TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY™

My advice would be to have great self-discipline. Having discipline in your time management, hanging out with friends and extracurriculars will only set you up for success. If you are strict with yourself and your ambitions, then you will definitely see yourself growing as a person and getting that degree. When it comes to studying, take frequent breaks, study in sections, and put your phone away. I study for 30 minutes with no distractions, then take a five-minute break and start up again until I'm satisfied with my progress. You must do everything in your power to approach each activity or circumstance with an open mind. An open mind will help you have a more positive outlook on life by challenging yourself and putting you out of your comfort zone. Lastly, use your CAMP resources and don't be afraid to ask for help outside your academics.

5 tips to be successful at WT (from Lizbeth Lopez, B.S., CAMP Alumni '20):

1. Always attend class and build a relationship with your professor.
2. Learn how to manage your time.
3. Make new friends, join organizations, and get involved.
4. Find a hobby you enjoy taking a break from school work.
5. Never doubt yourself and dream big. You are capable of anything you set your mind to.
